1. Qualitative Information for the Nine Months Ended December 31, 2020

(1) Review of Operating Results

Japanese Economy: During the first nine months (April 1, 2020, to December 31, 2020) of the consolidated fiscal year under review (April 1, 2020, to March 31, 2021) Japan felt the economic toll of the spread of COVID-19. Amid voluntary business restrictions, real GDP shrank by an annualized 29.2% in the April–June quarter, its largest decline on record. However, the economy gradually improved after business activities resumed around the world and the government's economic support measures took effect. As for the future outlook, while the pace of economic normalization may slacken if infections rise, the positive economic trend should continue in view of the economic support measures and the likelihood that vaccines will become available soon, albeit a little later than in Western countries.

Looking Abroad: The economic toll of the pandemic was felt in other countries too. In the first half of 2020 (January–June), most countries experienced a recession, with two consecutive quarters of negative growth. However, in the July–September quarter, many economies rebounded thanks to phased economic reopening and strong stimulus packages from the governments and central banks of G7 countries. This recovery trend looks set to continue. Future economic progress will depend on infection rates, the vaccine rollout, and whether governments can sustain their economic support measures.

Japanese Stock Market: Starting at around ¥18,600 in April, the Nikkei Stock Average trended upward with the announcements of the stimulus packages made by major countries and phased reopening of economies in such countries, as well as by the hopes of a possible breakthrough in vaccine development. Consequently, the Nikkei topped the ¥23,000 mark in early June. The market then saw some bearish activity in response to several troubling developments. In June, for example, the US stock market plunged in reaction to the Federal Open Market Committee's bleak economic assessment. Then, from late July, there were grim financial results announcements revealing the scale of the downturn in corporate earnings during the April—June quarter. Despite the bearishness, the Nikkei ultimately held firm. In November, risk appetite grew as uncertainties over the US presidential election dissipated and progress on the vaccine front fuelled market optimism. In addition, toward the end of the year, the Nikkei reached a 30-year high due in part to a second stimulus plan in the US. The Nikkei, after all, finished December at the ¥27,400 mark. For the period under review (April 1, 2020, to December 31, 2020), the average daily transaction volume in the First Section of the Tokyo Stock Exchange was ¥2,636.8 billion, higher than the figure for the same period of the previous fiscal year (which was ¥2,432.1 billion).

Japanese Bond Market: The yield on 10-year JGB, the indicator of long-term interest rates, started at minus 0.005% in April. On April 28, the yield hit a period low of minus 0.055%, when fears about the spread of COVID-19 prompted a rush to safe-haven assets. In May, however, the yield rebounded and entered positive territory amid high stock prices and rising long-term interest rates in the US and Europe, which themselves reflected economic optimism with the phased reopening of economies in G7 countries. Then in July, it rose to a period high of 0.055% following concerns that supply and demand could be negatively affected by the issuance of government bonds to finance the second supplementary budget. The yield then trended between zero and 0.05%, finishing December at 0.02%.

Foreign Exchange Market: The dollar-to-yen exchange rate opened in April at around 1 USD to 107 JPY. In May, it dipped at one point to below 1 USD to 106 JPY after the Federal Reserve's liquidity measures created a surplus, prompting investors to sell dollars for other currencies. The dollar subsequently rose against the yen, amid sharp surge in stock prices reflecting an increased risk appetite in response to phased economic reopening in major countries and following government and central bank interventions. In June, the dollar was trending high in the upper ¥109 range. However, there was a rush to sell the dollar later in the year. One factor was a predicted extension of easing by the Fed in view of a resurgence in infections. The US election on November 3 was another factor; once Joe Biden was all but confirmed as the victor, markets speculated that his administration would run up the deficit. Consequently, in December, the dollar hit a period low against the yen, fetching around the upper ¥102. It finished the month at 1 USD to 103 JPY.

On October 1, we celebrated our group's 20th anniversary. Twenty years ago, Tokai Tokyo Securities (the name of our firm before we adopted a holding company structure) was founded following a merger between Tokai Tokyo Securities and Tokai Maruman Securities. To mark this milestone, we released a new corporate slogan, "Connecting Hearts Creating Futures" We aim to play a leading role in the finance industry of the future by forging partnerships with regional banks and by flexibly deploying a broad range of knowhow. Alongside this, we will continue developing long-lasting, trust-based relationships with our customers by closely attending to what they ask for.

The business landscape for Tokai Tokyo Financial Group has seen some rapid and important shifts. These dizzying shifts include the progress in digitalization, increasing emphasis on fiduciary due diligence, workstyle changes, new market realities both in Japan and across the world, and increasingly diverse customer needs. Meanwhile, we face high costs for upgrading systems, and a more crowded securities market with the entrance of non-industry players. Amid these seismic shifts, we embarked on the fourth year of our business plan, New Age's Flag Bearer 5. Under this plan, we continue expanding the functions of the Great Platform and implementing a productivity revolution to further strengthen our operating base and enhance growth. We also continue our efforts to become an integrated financial group to form a third pillar in financial industry, whereby we can play squarely with the megabank-owned securities companies and major securities companies.

We have established new teams as part of the above business plan. We established the Digital Strategy Group to accelerate and enhance digitalization across our group. We also established the Great Platform Business Promotion Department, which is responsible for sharing our business platforms with regional banks (including our current partners and members of the Second Association of Regional Banks), as well as with communications and distribution firms, in order to advance our strategically focused functions and effectuate them as early as possible.

To spearhead the group's contribution to the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)<sup>1</sup>, we established the SDGs Promotion Department. We support the UN's sustainability agenda and want to contribute toward the SDGs. In September 2020, we announced the SDG Pledge. This pledge enshrines our commitment to engaging with the goal of a sustainable society by constantly innovating and by cherishing communities, people, and the environment through our business activities, which themselves are guided by our corporate vision ("We will contribute to the growth of our nation's economy by fulfilling the role as a financial service provider to help individual customers with their wealth formation and corporate customers with their capital enhancement").

As part of this commitment, we have linked SDGs to material topics, which are 1) health, 2) education and workstyle, 3) financial innovation, 4) regional economies, and 5) environmental conservation. To promote environmental sustainability, in October, Tokai Tokyo Securities acted as a comanager in underwriting the Tokyo Green Bonds issued by the Tokyo Metropolitan Government. <sup>2</sup> Also, Tokai Tokyo Securities facilitated sales of green bonds issued by overseas financial institutions. On the health front, we have promoted sport in society for many years by actively employing athletes (this year, we offered jobs to two athletes). Additionally, we continue to promote employee health across the group.

Additionally, as part of enhancing risk management capability, we established the Anti-Money Laundering Supervisory Department, ensuring that we never engage in money laundering or terrorist financing.

Regarding industry-wide engagement, Tokai Tokyo Securities Co., Ltd. became an Affiliated Securities Firm Member of the Financial Advisor Association of Japan, which was founded in January 2020 and inaugurated in April. Tokai Tokyo Securities will make a sustained commitment to this association by promoting a customer-first approach that fosters customer trust and stable asset building.

Regarding our digital strategy, in an effort to enhance our customer services, we acquired the capability to provide digital securities services. In June, we invested in Hash DasH Holdings Co., Ltd., whose operating subsidiary, Hash DasH Co., Ltd., is planning to operate a trading platform for digital securities in Japan. In July, we securitized some real-estate assets in Japan and launched a preparatory testing to list the subject assets on iSTOX, a trading platform for securities tokens<sup>3</sup> based in Singapore. Meanwhile, Tokai Tokyo Financial Holdings joined the Japan Security Token Association (a voluntary association), and Tokai Tokyo Securities joined the Japan Security Token Offering Association (a self-regulatory organization). Joining

The SDGs are a set of goals outlined in a 2015 UN declaration titled "Transforming our world: the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development." There are 17 SDGs, encompassing 169 targets. The SDG agenda calls on the corporate sector to contribute to the goals through business activities.

Green bonds are bonds issued for the purpose of funding environmental projects. The Tokyo Green Bonds program has received a second-party opinion from ISS ESG (formerly, ISS-oekom) confirming that it aligns with the Green Bond Principles defined by the International Capital Markets Association.

Based on blockchain technology, security tokens serve as digital investment contracts, representing ownership of underlying assets such as stocks, bonds, or real estate.

Our digital strategy and our efforts to prepare infrastructure for remote working have earned us recognition as an exemplar in digital transformation (one of the "Noteworthy DX Companies 2020" among "DX Stocks 2020") under the Competitive IT Strategy Company program run by the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry and the Tokyo Stock Exchange. The purpose of this program is to encourage companies to invest in digital transformation to improve their value and competitiveness over the medium to long term.

We have placed top priority on preventing the spread of COVID-19 infection as the health and safety of our customers and employees always comes first. On May 14, Japan's state of emergency was lifted in the areas where we operate. Accordingly, we began a phased reopening of business locations on May 18, taking the necessary safety measures: In addition to requiring the use of facemasks and providing hand sanitizer, we installed clear plastic screens at customer-facing locations to prevent airborne transmission. We also introduced staggered work hours and work-from-home programs to reduce density in the office and help prevent crowded commutes.

On January 8, 2021, a second state of emergency was declared in Tokyo, Kanagawa, Saitama, and Chiba. On the 13th, the state of emergency was expanded to three Kansai prefectures (Osaka, Kyoto, and Hyogo), Tochigi, Fukuoka, and two Tokai region prefectures (Aichi and Gifu). Although our business premises remain open, we have stepped up anti-infection measures. We also continue to stagger work hours and allow employees to work from home.

A key pressing task is to make our retail businesses more productive. This task is critical because our customer-facing securities businesses will face an increasingly challenging business landscape ahead. Moreover, as we approach the final year of New Age's Flag Bearer 5, it is imperative to increase productivity of retail operation to meet our KGIs under the business plan. Accordingly, Tokai Tokyo Securities is working to make sales offices more efficient in line with new working practices as well as more flexible and responsive to customer needs. As part of this transformation, the company consolidated two Kansai offices: the Osaka and Umeda offices. In an effort to create new efficiencies, it transformed the Umeda office into a slimmed-down satellite office (with lower rent and running costs) and introduced fixed—mobile convergence.<sup>4</sup>

In the period under review, there were no material changes to our strategic direction or business policies. Our medium-term business plan (New Age's Flag Bearer 5) commits us to the following performance targets for next year (the final year of the plan): return on equity of 10%, ordinary income of ¥30 billion, and assets in custody (group-wide) of ¥10 trillion.

The Group's consolidated operating results up to the period were as follows:

The former increased by 36.5% to 2,449 million shares, and the latter likewise increased 44.4%, to $4,411.8 billion. Commissions to consignees on stocks increased 22.0% to $10,027 million.

Under this category, agency commissions from investment trusts declined 14.0%, to \(\frac{\pmathbf{Y}}{2}\),646 million, and insurance commissions decreased 0.4%, to \(\frac{\pmathbf{Y}}{2}\),266 million, as some of the walk-in locations were closed during the state of emergency. These decreases were not offset by an increase in consulting fees.

(Non-operating income and expenses)

Non-operating income totaled ¥1,936 million, an increase of 70.9%. The main factors were an equity-method gain (compared to an equity-method loss in the same period last year), which led to the recording of ¥837 million in gain on equity-method investments, ¥385 million in gain on investments in partnership, and ¥223 million in dividend received. Non-operating expenses totaled ¥200 million, a decrease of 30.4%. The decrease is the result after absorbing ¥155 million loss on investments in investment partnerships.
